

Behind the eyes of the viewer of sexual images of children What do they see? Where are they going?

Webinar available from the 29.9.23 – 13.10.23, with the Q&A at 12.00 on Friday 13/10/23 via ZOOM

- Motivations and drivers for individuals viewing Child Sexual Exploitation Material
- Psychological connections between mainstream pornography and CSEM
- The risk of cross-over into contact sexual offending

Costings per person:

£40 + VAT

To request a booking form and secure your place please email training@lucyfaithfull.org.uk

Delivered by Tom Squire

Course delivered by Tom Squire, Clinical Manager at The Lucy Faithfull Foundation.

Tom has worked for The Lucy Faithfull Foundation since 2007 and has a background in the Probation Service. As a Probation officer, he completed specialist training in cognitive behavioural treatment techniques for men who have committed sexual offences and facilitated a range of accredited treatment programmes for men convicted of sexual offences.

These programmes included treatment groups tailored towards those who offended on the internet, as well as men with borderline learning disabilities.

At The Lucy Faithfull Foundation, Tom undertakes specialist risk assessments commissioned by a range of agencies, and provides training, advice and consultancy to other professionals.

He provides clinical support to the Stop It Now! helpline, an anonymous and confidential helpline for all adults with concerns about child sexual abuse, including those concerned about either their own or another person's sexual thoughts, feelings and/or behaviour towards children, as well adults concerned about the sexual behaviour of a child or young person.

Tom plays an important part in promoting The Lucy Faithfull Foundation's deterrence campaign regarding the viewing of indecent images of children and, in 2018, he led on the development of an online forum for family and friends of those who have sexually offended online: <https://get-help.stopitnow.org.uk/family-and-friends/family-and-friends-forum>