

Join us in protecting children in your community from sexual abuse.

Every child deserves to grow up free from sexual harm. At the Lucy Faithfull Foundation, we work to prevent child sexual abuse and support those affected. But we can't do it alone. We need your help.

We take a holistic approach, working with entire families affected by or concerned about abuse. This includes adult perpetrators (to stop harm from happening in the first place, or to prevent it from happening again); young people displaying harmful sexual behaviours; victims of abuse and other family members; front-line workers and professionals.

Our specialist staff work with everyone involved in a child's life, tackling the problem from all angles so that children are as safe as they can be.

Together, we can build a safer world where children are protected and free from harm.

Every contribution makes a difference — no matter the size.
